

This is Germany's capital city. There is a famous building called the Brandenburg Gate with columns like the Parthenon. You will see the famous Berlin Wall that once divided the city. Now covered in street art. You can go up in a huge TV tower (that looks like a giant lollipop) and see the whole town!

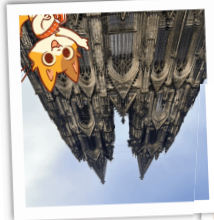

Berlin

Munich is a beautiful city where you can explore a huge park called the English Garden. You can watch surfers ride waves on a river right in the middle of the city. Just outside Munich is a magical castle called Neuschwanstein. It inspired the castles at Disney!

You will find the super tall Cologne Cathedral here, a huge church. It's so tall, it looks like it's trying to touch the sky! It was the tallest building in Europe until the Eiffel Tower came along. Also, Cologne is where cologne was invented.

Cologne

This city has a big port where giant ships come and go. Don't miss the world's biggest model train set - a whole miniature world at Miniatur Wunderland! Hamburg is Keeke's favorite place to visit Christmas Markets at Christmastime.

Some of Keeke's Favorite Places in Germany

Germany is a country in Europe. You can find it on a map next to The Netherlands, France, Switzerland, Austria, Czechia, and Poland. People from Germany are called Germans, and the language they speak is called German. Germany is famous for some awesome things: Yummy food like pretzels, sausages, and something called schnitzel (it's fun to say, right?). It's like chicken fried steak. Neat, old fairy tale castles. Germany is home to some of the most festive Christmas Markets in the world. Imagine sipping hot chocolate, exploring a wonderland of decorations and toys. It's a holiday experience you won't forget! Inventions like the printing press and the teddy bear! Germans love soccer (they call it football), and the German team has won the World Cup four times! Germany has beautiful forests, big cities with tall buildings, and rivers where boats cruise by all day long. So, when you hear about Germany, think of castles, Christmas Markets, and some super tasty treats!
