3. Choosing a name

- 3.1 Before choosing a Registered Name or a Trading Name for use in the DIFC you should check the DIFC's public register at <https://www.difc.ae/public-register/> to see if the proposed name is not the same as, or closely resembles, an existing name on the DIFC's public register.
- 3.2 You may also want to check the proposed name against the name register of the DED at <http://www.ded.ae> as the DIFC also does not register any name that is the same as, or closely resembles, an existing name on the DED's register of names¹.
- 3.3 Prior to approving a proposed name, the ROC also checks its list of reserved names to ensure that it is not the same as, or closely resembles, an existing name on the list of reserved names.
- 3.4 The ROC does not check any proposed names against any Trademarks registry held by the UAE Ministry of Economy, or any other authority, but will require a Registered Name or a Trading Name to be changed if a relevant party brings to his attention that it infringes an existing Copyright or Trademark.
- 3.5 It is preferable that a Registered Name or a Trading Name reflects the nature of a Person's business in the DIFC but this is not required where you provide the ROC with a satisfactory reason why this should not be the case (e.g. where your Registered Name or Trading Name reflects a particular brand).
- 3.6 If your activities are regulated by the DFSA, you should also consider the naming requirements of the DFSA at www.difsa.ae

¹ The intention is that at some point name checks will be performed with registration authorities throughout the UAE to ensure that a proposed Registered Name in the DIFC is not a restricted name within the context of what constitutes a Relevant Jurisdiction.

- 3.7 If your proposed name closely resembles that of another Person or Branch in the DIFC or DED the ROC may consider your proposed name for approval if you distinguish yourself by adding your proposed activity in the DIFC to your name, which will assist in distinguishing yourself from someone else and the ROC is satisfied that no intellectual property rights or other legal infringement takes place by doing so.

4. Reserving a name

- 4.1. Prior to submitting an application for establishment, registration or continuation, you may apply to the ROC for the reservation of a proposed name using the form prescribed and paying the prescribed fee stated in the Operating Regulations.
- 4.2. You may put forward up to three (3) proposed names in order of preference but the ROC will only accept the first acceptable name in the stated order of preference for reservation.
- 4.3. Once accepted, a proposed name will remain reserved for a period of ninety (90) days after which the reservation will fall away automatically without any further notification. This period is counted with reference to calendar days, the first counted day being the calendar day after the date of acceptance of the name reservation by the ROC.

5. Suffixes
