Monthly update

Portfolio commentary¹

In July, the total return (change in NAV plus distribution per unit) was 0.97%. This marks a 6.6% total return since the beginning of the year. The Underlying Fund declared a distribution of 0.0132 per unit, aligned with the distribution target of RBA+4% per annum. Interest income continues to be the main contributor, adding 1% to total return while price contributed 20bps. The monthly performance was supported by an overweight to the European market which offered better returns relative to the US loan market. Single-B assets contributed 70bps, slightly offset by triple-C and below. Finally, in terms of sectors, Health Care, Consumer Discretionary and Industrials contributed 51bps to the total return for the month. The weighted average price of the underlying assets in the portfolio is 97.5, and the current portfolio yield is 10.5%.

In July, the Underlying Fund added new direct credit positions, including a producer of transportation biofuel substitutes in APAC, a cloud managed service provider in Germany, a multidisciplinary accounting firm in the Netherlands, and a wealth management platform in France.

On the syndicated credit side, the Underlying Fund invested in new primaries such as a team sports uniform provider in the US, a commercial HVAC solutions provider in the US, and a traffic safety services leader in Germany.

Market activity

In July, the US and European loan markets saw returns of 0.68% and 0.93%, respectively². The downturn in the US tech sector impacted returns last month due to the sector's significant weight in the overall loan market. Nonetheless, amid a supportive technical backdrop with reduced primary activity and robust CLO demand, performance of the asset class remained strong.
