Caregiver Incentive Project

October Edition

Do you have a story to share? Know a rural organization or individual making a difference? Email our team, at com.mcrhaa@msu.edu and let us share your story!

The Caregiver Incentive Project, a.k.a. “CIP” is a small non-profit located in the heart of Michigan’s Upper Peninsula. CIP’s mission is to improve the lives of caregivers and in turn improve the lives of the cared-for. The need for caregivers in Michigan grows every day and with the U.P.’s population, including a higher percentage of seniors, this means the need for caregivers in the U.P. is greater than throughout the rest of the state. With the need growing every day, the mission to improve the caregiving environment in our state is critical.

CIP delivers on their mission through caregiver outreach, education and support. CIP’s outreach efforts include sharing what it means to be a caregiver and the difference a caregiver makes between existing and living. Education from CIP includes safe transfers, CPR, caregiver professionalism, the importance of self-care and communication skills. Support from CIP means connections to the right people, organizations, scholarships and or direct financial uplifts and membership in the caregiving community.

One thing for certain that the CIP knows is that caregiving will touch everyone’s life at some time, humans either have been a caregiver, are a caregiver, will be a caregiver or will need a caregiver.

Health Insurance Coverage in Rural and Urban Areas in the U.S., 2023

This new brief outlines the health insurance status of people in the U.S., by residence (rural and urban) in 2023, with additional breakdowns by age groups. The analysis is based on data from the 2024 American Community Survey (ACS), released September 2024 by the U.S. Census Bureau, providing a snapshot of coverage for a point-in-time with national data.

Key Findings:

- Uninsured rates in 2023 were higher in rural areas (8.4 percent), as compared to urban areas (7.8 percent).
- People in rural areas were less likely to hold private sources of coverage than urban Americans (61.8 percent as compared to 68.0 percent), and people in rural areas were much less likely to hold employer-sponsored insurance (ESI) compared to those living in urban areas (47.8 percent compared to 56.0 percent). In contrast, people living in rural areas were more likely (45.2 percent) than people in urban areas (36.1 percent) to hold public sources of coverage.
- Insured rates varied significantly by age group in rural and urban areas. Uninsured rates were lowest for those age 65 or older, due to near universal coverage from Medicare. Uninsured rates were highest within the 19-64 age group in all areas.
- The source of coverage varied significantly for persons living in rural areas compared to those living in urban areas. For example, ESI coverage rates were higher in urban areas relative to rural areas in all age groups. Medicaid coverage rates were higher for people younger than age 65 (children as well as those age 19-64) living in rural areas compared to urban areas.
