

Engage employees in benefits with year-round communication

Total Benefits Website

A Total Benefits Website provides recruits, new hires, active employees and family members one place to go for all benefit-related information.

- Reinforces the total rewards value with a visual display of the entire benefits package
- Facilitates ongoing access to group-specific benefits information in multiple languages (if needed)
- Provides a consistent message across all benefits
- Available 24/7 for employees and family members (outside of internal firewalls)
- Optimized for smart phones and tablets for on-the-go access
- Empowers you to create, respond and deliver messages in real time online, reducing HR department call volume
- Serves as foundation for benefits education — wellness, consumerism, retirement
- Supports electronic communication behaviors your employees are already using in daily life
- Always up-to-date with content easily and quickly added to roll out new programs or to promote specific events/benefits

The site helps employers maximize budgets, simplify communication and ensure compliance while enhancing the employee experience and building appreciation for total rewards.
