Current Responsibility

Jimmy Weck is an actuary with the Tampa office of Milliman. He joined the firm in 2014.

Professional Work Experience

Jimmy's primary area of expertise is the supplemental health market. Jimmy has experience in both the pricing and valuation of supplemental health products, including critical illness, cancer, hospital indemnity, and accident insurance. On the pricing side, he has assisted clients with product development, competitive analysis, claim cost development, financial projections, and rate filings. Jimmy has helped clients obtain product approvals in all 50 states and the District of Columbia. He has helped clients design and price a number of innovative benefits in the supplemental benefits market.

With respect to valuation support, he has assisted clients with statutory and GAAP reserving, financial reporting, and experience analysis. Jimmy is also heavily involved in the Appointed Actuary work for multiple clients. Additionally, Jimmy has assisted clients involved in mergers and acquisitions with the development of actuarial assumptions and projections. Due to his experience in both the pricing and valuation areas, he has a strong understanding of the profit patterns for supplemental health products.
