PRESS RELEASE

April 2025

Call for Presentations has started

The European Heat Pump Summit is the central meeting place for the international heat pump industry. It will take place on 28 and 29 October 2025 at the Exhibition Center Nuremberg. The high-quality technical program will focus on current market developments, new research results, potentials and applications, innovations in product and component development as well as the topic of large heat pumps. Presentations on these key subjects can be submitted online by manufacturers and experts with immediate effect. The congress will be complemented by an accompanying foyer expo where manufacturers will present their latest solutions.

The European Heat Pump Summit is one of the world's most important congress events for the heat pump sector. It is aimed at heat pump manufacturers, planners, architects, experts from research, development and technology as well as users of heat pumps in trade and industry. Both the congress and the accompanying Foyer Expo will focus on the following topics in 2025:

- Success, opportunities and challenges
- Research and development
- Potentials and applications
- Product and component development
- Large-scale heat pumps

“With the European Heat Pump Summit, we are offering a platform that combines knowledge with practice and specifically addresses the needs of the heat pump industry. After a successful Chillventa 2024, we look forward to welcoming experts from all over the world to Nuremberg again,” says Daniela Heinkel, Director European Heat Pump Summit and Chillventa, NürnbergMesse.

In 2025, the Summit will once again be held as a duo of specialist congress and foyer expo - a combination of in-depth knowledge transfer and direct exchange with manufacturers and experts.

The European Heat Pump Summit is regarded as one of the leading events for heat pumps - with an international audience, the latest impulses and a clear focus on the future of the industry.
