Finger on the pulse of the green sector!

Together, we are making an important contribution to the climate transition and climate adaptation measures in our cities and communities. We are all the planners, decision-makers and implementers who design living spaces offering a high quality of life.

And the best thing about it: At GaLaBau 2024, all these players can come together again and exchange new ideas and innovations for the future of the industry. Together we will take our green spaces and your success forward!

We're looking forward to welcoming you!

WORKING TOGETHER for a climate-friendly future

Did our GREEN-BLUE PATH get you motivated at the last GaLaBau? It showed us one thing: The green sector is aware of its important role in climate adaptation. And that is why, on the occasion of our anniversary, we are joining old and new companions as we embark on the second edition of the GREEN-BLUE PATH. It once again forms a link between exhibitors who make a positive contribution to climate adaptation with their products and services. The individual stations are specially labelled accordingly.

Join us as we look forward to the first round of guided tours, and be inspired to follow the climate-friendly path even after the trade fair!
