Focus on intelligent production

From 29 September to 1 October 2026, POWTECH TECHNOPHARM will open its doors in Nuremberg/Germany and present innovations in the processing and manufacture of powders, solids and liquids for a wide range of process industries. With the Pavillon Smart Industry-in-Focus, the trade fair will be focusing on the future of automated production.

The focus will be on modern automation solutions, digital process integration and intelligent control concepts.

From modular plant architectures, real-time data processing and AI-supported optimization to integrated system networking, the pavilion provides a stage for technologies that redefine efficiency, quality and compliance in regulated production environments.

Take advantage of this opportunity to present your solutions to a highly qualified specialist audience and play an active role in shaping the next generation of smart production processes.
