KAYAK For a Cause

Join us in protecting the marine ecosystem together with local initiatives like Our Singapore Reefs (OSR). Through collaborating with PAssion Wave, WeCare PAL OSR has helped to spread awareness and promote wildlife protection in the community.

Since 2021, the collaboration between PAssion Wave and OSR has resulted in five clean-up programmes, leading to the removal and documentation of litter from beaches and waters across the nation. The well-loved Kayak N Klean programme combines water sports with environmental conservation, empowering the community to combat marine debris and keep the reefs safe.

Let's hear what Sam Shu Qin, Co-Founder, OSR has to say: "Together with PAssion Wave, we have removed and documented marine debris from the beach and waters through five clean-up programmes since 2021. The experience had been fruitful as participants were able to engage in meaningful conversations in a casual setting while cleaning up the marine habitats. Through various community events, PA has also provided us valuable opportunities to reach out to more youths, showcase Singapore's precious marine biodiversity and share our efforts in marine conservation with people from all walks of life."

PAssion Tip

If your organisation is keen to give back to the community with PA, come join us as WeCare PALs – PA's corporate and community partners, and begin your volunteering journey today!

Everyone has a part to play in environmental conservation, even you! Keep a lookout for the Kayak N Klean programme organised by PAssion Wave. Combining water sports with cleaning the environment, this signature activity is available to everyone, even children. Keep Our BEACHES CLEAN

Who doesn't love a nice day at the beach? Let's keep our pristine sands and waves clean by preventing litter and marine debris. Learn about the small but impactful actions you can take to make a difference. Together, we can ensure our coasts and seas stay beautiful for the generations ahead!

Let's Go Plogging!

Have you heard of plogging? Originating from Sweden, this new movement is a combination of picking up litter while jogging. To take part in this eco-friendly initiative, all you need is a bag to store litter in and some gloves to pick rubbish up with. Get started in your plogging journey by organising a group session with friends or family members this weekend. You'll be surprised what you pick up along the way!

Leave No Waste Behind

When visiting the beach, take precautions to keep it clean and pristine! Not only is waste ugly, but it can also seriously harm marine creatures that mistake it for food and harm the ecosystem. Make sure not to leave behind any litter, whether it be food waste, fishing lines or plastic bottles.

Say No to Plastic

Most of the marine debris that harms our ecosystem comes from our use of plastic! By consuming large amounts of plastic, we pose an indirect and long-term threat to our environment. Make a change by using plastic-free alternatives in your daily life. Bring a tote bag on shopping trips and take a tumbler when going on your coffee run. These small actions can impact how much plastic we really need and use!

HISTORICAL BEAUTY Around Us

In the early 20th century, Singapore had a booming mining industry. To supply the construction of the very first HDB flats, we quarried large amounts of granite before purchasing them from our neighbours. Unearth the past by checking out these beautiful quarries and enjoying the natural scenery. Although abandoned, these mining spots are an exciting weekend adventure for the whole family!

Hindhede Quarry

Located at the foot of Bukit Timah Hill, the Hindhede Quarry is a hidden gem for families looking for a fun day out! To get to the quarry, you will need to trek through the Hindhede Nature Park. Rest assured, the park is designed with families in mind, especially those with young children. The trail features wide paths for strollers and gentle inclines so even the little ones can adventure on their own.

Along the way are more family-friendly facilities to make the trip fuss-free. A picnic area is available for those who wish to make a quick rest stop for lunch, and there's even a kid-sized picnic table! The Hindhede Nature Park playground is also a sure hit with the young ones and a must-visit for families. Kids will have a blast on the swing set, while the older ones can try out the climbing playsets and the zip line.

At the end of the trail lies the grand Hindhede Quarry. The Hindhede Quarry used to be a hotspot for granite mining but has since become a picturesque spot for all visitors. Featuring a scenic view of the deep, cool waters against the rocky cliffs, the serenity is a total change of pace compared to our usually bustling city.

Singapore Quarry

The Dairy Farm Nature Reserve is home to the Singapore Quarry. Its trail is perfect for wildlife enthusiasts and aspiring nature photographers. The trail, which is mostly on flat ground, is easy to navigate, making it suitable for everyone in the family including the elderly.

Along the trail, you're bound to spot some unique insects flying or hopping around. This trek is also relaxing and not too exhausting, which makes it a great physical activity for kids too!

You will be rewarded with a gorgeous view of the now-flooded quarry at the end of the trail. Though its mining past is long gone, it has since been transformed into a wetland teeming with life. Enjoy the peace and tranquillity from the sheltered viewing deck, and see if you can spot the lively dragonflies or a colourful Kingfisher!
