

Faces behind the Start-up

What gave me strength? My family. Like any other person here, this would be their core. My husband and two kids who are 5 and 7 years old kept me strong to go to work every day. Admittedly, life had been tough when my husband was retrenched at the onset of MCO in 2020 and had to move back to Selangor to find a job there while I stay in Bandar Penawar.

Why I kept going? I take it as my Amanah as an employee knowing that the plant was not able to start yet at that time and that I have a role to play.

What is it like to be involved in the start-up? Work here is unpredictable. Problems can arise at any time, from any corner. However, we are lucky we have a committed management that investigates every problem thoroughly, even during weekends or public holidays. Although this requires extra work and numerous checkings, it serves to protect the integrity and quality of the plant in the long run.

What gave me the drive? Because of the team. For example, troubleshooting sessions and meetings went on during breaking of fast, weekends and even public holidays. The teamwork and determination amongst all levels is amazing. Alhamdulillah, we managed to achieve our scheduled start-up. This would not have been possible without everyone's relentless hard work.

Balqis Md Jasni

(Strategic Execution), Business Strategy & Planning, CEO's Office

*This series is to honour the people who has made sacrifices and worked tirelessly towards successful start-up.
If you know someone who fits this criteria and wants his/her story to be featured, please email to zarina.zakaria@petronas.com.my to share your stories.*