

2026 Health Equity Plan

Alta Bates Summit Medical Center- Summit Campus

Overview

At Sutter Health, we believe that every person deserves compassionate, high-quality care—no matter who they are. We are committed to addressing gaps by ensuring that patients receive the care, support, and resources they need to live a healthier life.

We recognize that factors like race, ethnicity, age, income, language, disability status, sexual orientation, gender identity, and access to services can influence health outcomes. That's why we work every day to remove barriers to care, listen to our patients' unique needs, and provide support to achieve better health.

As a national leader in healthcare quality, Sutter Health participates in the Hospital Equity Reporting Program developed and administered by California's Department of Health Care Access and Information (HCAI). This annual reporting initiative—guided by the Hospital Equity Measures Advisory Committee — requires hospitals to publicly share data on patient access, quality and outcomes across key demographic dimensions. It also includes a plan to prioritize and address identified gaps.

This strategic plan identifies the top 10 differences in health outcomes between patient groups and explains how the hospital will address those gaps. For each difference, the hospital must show which group is affected, which group is doing best, how big the gap is, and what actions will be taken to help improve outcomes.

Whether it's through linguistically and contextually appropriate care, community partnerships, or personalized health resources, we strive to create an environment where patients receive optimal care for their condition.

Measure: Readmissions - All

Description of Interventions:

Your health and recovery continue after you leave the hospital. We're here to support you along the way. Our goal is to help you stay well and avoid an unnecessary hospital readmission by providing care that meets your needs.

During your hospital stay, your care team will talk with you about your care and discharge plans and encourage you to ask questions. We know that when patients are unclear about their diagnoses and treatment plans, it can increase the risk of hospital readmission. That's why, before you go home, we visit with you to make sure you understand your condition and care plan.

We provide health education that respects all backgrounds, to help you feel informed and confident about your care. We value effective communication when providing your care and provide medically certified interpreters – available in person, over the phone or via video – if you need assistance.

Our care management team will also conduct a review of your ongoing care needs, including medications and equipment, for your recovery at home. Before you leave the hospital, we can help you understand what to expect during recovery and can make connections to care outside the hospital as needed.

Finally, if you consent, we can screen for social factors that may affect your health—such as housing, food, or transportation—and help connect you with services like home health care, transportation, and community resources.

After discharge, our Transition of Care (TOC) team may follow up with you by phone call to answer questions and remind you about medications. This call is designed to ensure smooth and safe transitions after you've been discharged from the hospital. To keep improving, we track how many patients return to the hospital annually through the Centers of Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS). Our results are available here:

We also encourage your participation! The surveys that you complete help improve our care. Our goal is simple: to help you recover safely at home and stay healthy long after your hospital stay.
