

Living Well with Diabetes:

Saturday, November 4th

1pm-3pm

Knapp Center for Biomedical Discovery
900 E 57th St, Chicago, IL 60637

More than one in five people in the United States who has diabetes do not know they have it.

Every year in November, those invested in the diabetes community organize to raise awareness of the diabetes epidemic. Diabetes is a health condition that can affect anyone, but it disproportionately affects Black, Indigenous and People of Color (BIPOC) communities. This will be an opportunity to educate the Chicagoland community about the risks associated with diabetes and pre-diabetes.

EVENT INCLUDES

Keynote speaker, panel discussion and resource fair, where attendees can connect directly with healthcare professionals and diabetes researchers to learn more.
