Solicitation Disclosure Statement

Date: _____ _, 2025

_____.

Dear _____:

This letter is in reference to W&S Advisory Services, LLC, a registered investment adviser ("Adviser") for which Fabric Technologies, Inc. ("Fabric") serves as a solicitor.

Adviser has entered into an agreement (the "Agreement") with its affiliate Fabric pursuant to which Fabric has agreed to refer prospective clients to Adviser and to perform additional administration support to Adviser in connection with Adviser's investment management services for such clients ("Solicitation Services"). Fabric does not receive any fee from Adviser for such referred clients. However, Fabric receives indirect benefits from the Agreement including, but not limited to, increased traffic to Fabric's website and application, which may result in purchases of other products that do result in Fabric revenue. These indirect benefits raise conflicts of interest and may incentivize Fabric to recommend Adviser's services over other products and services available to be recommended by Fabric. Nevertheless, there will be no added direct or indirect cost or expense to you in respect to any advisory relationship you establish with Adviser as a result of the Agreement. In addition, please note that (i) while Fabric is an affiliate of Adviser, it is not authorized to provide investment advice on behalf of Adviser or to act for or bind Adviser in any way; and (ii) Fabric is also compensated by Adviser for separate administrative support services tied to your account and other accounts that are separate and distinct from the Solicitation Services referred to above.

Please feel free to contact us directly any questions you may have concerning this arrangement.

Very truly yours,

Fabric Technologies, Inc.
