Five main types of insurance cover in Zurich MIA

Example – For an Australian company with global operations:

- Non-admitted ground-up insurance The Australian company has a subsidiary with a plant in China and wants to know whether it is permitted to cover that plant ground up, or to purchase local insurance.
- DIC/DIL insurance in addition to local ground-up insurance The company decides to purchase local cover in China but the limits are lower than on the master contract in Australia. Can it bridge the gap by including a difference in limit coverage?
- Non-admitted excess layer insurance on top of primary layer The company would like to spread its risk across multiple insurers and so has agreed to an excess line construct. What non-admitted implications does it need to take into consideration for the excess line coverage?
- Non-admitted insurer covering risk in another country without the presence of a legal entity The company purchases a warehouse in New Zealand for storing goods and the company has no legal entity in New Zealand with whom to bind a local policy.
- Non-admitted insurer concluding master policy with a customer entity located in another country The company believes its insurance requirements could be better met by purchasing insurance from the Hong Kong insurance market. Is this permissible?
