

Safeguarding Your Worksite with Occupational Health Technicians

Employee health care programs are no longer a “nice to have” option in the workplace – they are a critical tool for risk, injury, and cost reduction. Occupational Health Technicians (OHT) are a key frontline resource specializing in helping employees work more safely, stay healthy, and effectively treat any injuries that do occur.

At Pivot Onsite Innovations, our expert team leads with a “day-zero” approach. It’s a care philosophy that emphasizes proactive action to prevent more serious injuries and illnesses. It’s a proven approach that reduces both injuries and health care costs. Our OHTs are trained to administer tailored care plans with a focus on your industry and your workforce.

We partner with clients to develop injury treatment and prevention, wellness, and medical surveillance programs that comply with OSHA and MSHA standards, and foster healthier, safer, and more productive workplaces.
